LUMBER DIVISION

The lumber division of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce is organized to give assistance to the export trade in lumber and forest products. It is staffed by men with years of practical experience in the merchandising of lumber. Through the oversea representatives of the Departments of Commerce and State, it is in close touch with world's markets. The division gives American exporters a detailed and comprehensive service of foreign market information and sales assistance and guidance.

NATIONAL COMMITTEE ON WOOD UTILIZATION

The National Committee on Wood Utilization of the Department of Commerce, established by direction of President Coolidge, comprises about 150 members, representing manufacturers, distributors, and consumers of lumber and wood products. Its object is to work for closer utilization of our country's timber resources. The committee, whose headquarters are in the Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C., works in close cooperation with a number of official and private organizations, notably the Bureau of Standards of the Department of Commerce and the Forest Products Laboratory of the Forest Service, Department of Agriculture. The committee is working for the elimination of waste in the entire range—production, distribution, consumption—of forest products, and for coordination of the various branches of the forest industries, with the sawmill as the center, to permit one branch to utilize raw materials discarded by another. Special study is given to adoption of improved machinery for decreasing wood waste.

INTRODUCTION

This directory of exporters of American lumber has been prepared upon recommendation of the bureau's lumber export executive committee, representing manufacturers and exporters, for the guidance of lumber manufacturers seeking export outlet for a portion of their production and for small mills and producers of logs or rough stock who from time to time have stock available for export.

The lists were secured by the district offices of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce from the various lumber associations. There are included manufacturers, brokers, and merchants who are engaged in the exportation of lumber and have connections with lumber agents in foreign markets. It must be understood that the Department of Commerce can assume no responsibility for business transactions with any of these concerns.

As all American wood products are not represented by associations, this directory necessarily omits some lines regarding which the lumber division can advise.

The lumber division is indebted to the following associations for the lists contained in this directory:

American Walnut Manufacturers' Association, Chicago, Ill.
American Wood Preservers' Association, Chicago, Ill.
Ash Handle Association, Decatur, Ind.
Associated Cooperage Industries of America, St. Louis, Mo.

CONTENTS

NOTE.—The products listed herein are general for the United States. The lumber lists are mostly regional and are inclusive without specification of the regional softwoods or hardwoods. In the majority of cases each firm in any lumber list handles all of the softwoods or hardwoods exported from the region indicated. The table of contents shows in what lists separate kinds of export lumber are covered. Many of the firms listed handle logs as well as lumber.
